CONFERENCES

MECO 45 as an online conference

The MECO45 statistical physics conference originally scheduled for 6-8 May 2020 in Cluj-Napoca, will be organized as an online conference between 14-16 September 2020. Registration is reopened until 11 August 2020 and contributions from all areas of statistical physics are welcome. For more information and registration please consult the conference home-page at: <http://atom.ubbcluj.ro/meco45/>

CSRC-ICTP Joint online Workshop on Big Data, Machine Learning and Complexity Research | 30-31 Jul 2020

Exploration of similarities and differences between aspects of human societies and natural systems (e.g. microbial communities, the brain etc) offers novel insights. The workshop aims at showcasing some of the successful research outcomes in this rapidly expanding interdisciplinary field, and promoting exchange of ideas and methodologies particularly among young researchers. Deadline for application 27 Jul 2020. Further information available at <http://indico.ictp.it/event/9427/>
